

Enduris Members “Upgrade to Green”

As stewards of the public’s interest, we all have a duty to consider our impact on the environment. And, none of us are immune to the mounting pressure to “go green”. Yet adopting environmentally sustainable building practices and materials can be costly.

At Enduris, one of our core values is “Real people doing what’s right”. We believe that includes developing cutting edge solutions that help members do what’s right too.

Enduris’ “Upgrade to Green” Program eases the financial burden of going green, enabling members to rebuild insured property and replacing select damaged or destroyed personal property with products that embrace sustainability principles and reduce the overall impact of building on the environment.

The “Upgrade to Green” program automatically applies to all Enduris members at no additional premium to the member. The program is meant to encourage members to upgrade to Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) standards after they have a covered loss. It targets (but is not limited to):

- Energy Efficient Appliances and Equipment
- Water Efficiency
- Indoor Air Quality
- Sustainability
- Professional Services (LEED Accredited Architect or Engineer)

Having a claim, and the associated inconvenience of rebuilding, is not fun. If, however, you are unfortunate enough to have the experience, we’re proud to help you rebuild right! This is another example of how we work for you.

Membership does have privileges!
